

A life of MORE

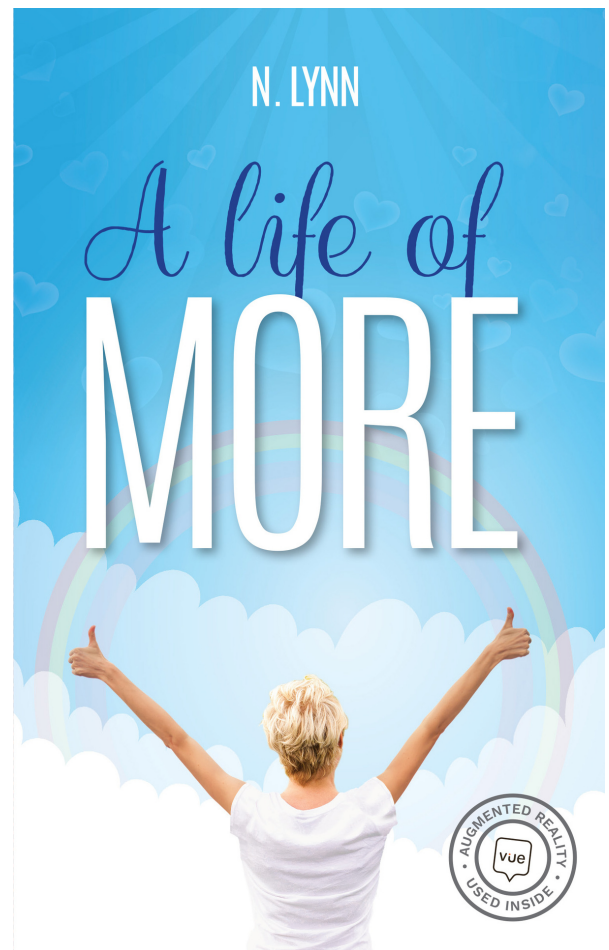

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Nancy is trained as a special education teacher and loves the beauty of classical music. She has spent most of her life searching for more of life's good things, and until recently, she didn't realize she needed to think about and focus on the good as opposed to waiting for it to come. Her true desire is to transmit hope and healing to all people.

She believes that there is a Higher Power filled with love, and that each of us has access to this love inside of us.

More love. More excitement.
More purpose.

Is happiness too much to ask of this world?

BOOK SYNOPSIS

At the tender and curious age of 17, Janet left the only world she'd ever known to explore a life abroad. What was supposed to be a summer of mission work in Scotland turned into a summer of love, but not the love she expected. This love turned into a lifetime of searching for the things that matter most in life. "Fifty years! Why has it taken me fifty years to figure this out?" she asks herself. In the end, after experiencing the ultimate loss, she finds happiness again in the most unlikely of circumstances.
